PART A — WHAT IS COVERED

A.1 Core Cover

We cover your legal liability under German law (§823 BGB) to pay compensation to third parties for: personal injury (medical costs, loss of earnings, pain and suffering — Schmerzensgeld); accidental property damage (repair or replacement of third-party property); legal defence costs when a third party makes a claim against you.

A.2 Specific Covered Scenarios

A.2.1 Accidental Damage to Third-Party Property

If you accidentally break or damage property belonging to a third party — a neighbour's window, a shop display item, a friend's laptop — we cover your legal liability. Sub-limit: EUR 5,000 per event. Deductible: EUR 150. Do not admit liability or pay anything without contacting us first.

A.2.2 Dog Damage and Injury

Dog owner liability (Tierhalterhaftpflicht) is strict in Germany under §833 BGB. We cover: dog bites causing personal injury, your dog damaging a neighbour's property or fence, your dog attacking another dog, and your dog causing a traffic accident. Dangerous breeds (Kampfhunde) must be declared at inception. Maximum: EUR 10,000,000 personal injury, EUR 5,000,000 property damage.

A.2.3 Tenant Liability (Mietsachschaden)

As a tenant, you are liable for damage to your rented property beyond normal wear and tear. We cover: accidental water damage to the building from a burst pipe or appliance within your flat, accidental fire damage, and accidental structural damage. Your own contents are covered under home contents insurance, not this policy. Maximum: EUR 5,000,000. Deductible: EUR 150.

A.2.4 Parental Liability for Children

Children below age 7 cannot be personally liable (§828 BGB) but parents bear supervisory liability (§832 BGB) for inadequate supervision. Children aged 7-17 have partial personal liability. Both parental supervisory liability and children's personal liability are covered.
